

Innermost Colour at LDF 2018

Innermost will once again take part in the London Design Festival opening their showroom on the Southbank for their event 'Innermost Colour'.

The Bankside Design District will be one of the key destinations at this year's London Design Festival, putting south London design on the map. The Bankside Design District continues to celebrate the creative diversity of this riverside destination, with galleries, creative studios and architect's practices. This vibrant destination is home to British lighting design brand, Innermost, at the designer-maker enclave: Oxo Tower Wharf.

Visit their beautiful showroom to experience the new custom colour programme, launched to provide a multitude of colour options on some their most popular lighting ranges. The service will offer Innermost's great designs in a colour of your choice.

LDF will also be a great opportunity to see the eagerly awaited Kepler, designed by Cohda for Innermost, in the flesh. This stunning lighting sculpture comprises an array of LEDs that create a striking infinity effect.

The beautiful Innermost showroom and gin bar makes a fantastic destination for LDF 2018 to catch the latest stunning lighting designs by Innermost.

About Innermost

Innermost is a British design brand with a rebellious approach to lighting and furniture. Founded in London and working with designers from all over the world, Steve Jones and Russell Cameron aimed to create an innovative and diverse brand, making products of the absolute highest quality. Since 1999 the company has followed its initial philosophy, to be 'as British as London itself': a unique mixture of classic English tradition and vibrant global diversity.
